Zeesi
Illuminations from Jerusalem fine art invitations & benchers

Ketubah Personalization Form client name _____   rabbi's name _____ phone _____   rabbi's phone _____ e-mail _____   rabbi's e-mail _____ ketubah design _____

In order to personalize your ketubah the following information is needed:

nusach ashkinaz or sefardi _____ hebrew date of wedding _____   english date of wedding _____ before or after sunset _____ place of wedding in hebrew _____   place of wedding in english _____ kallah (bride)

hebrew name _____   english name _____ kallah's marriage status: first marriage, divorced, convert or widow _____ father of kallah's hebrew name _____   father a cohen, levy or yisrael _____ chattan (groom)

hebrew name _____   english name _____
father of chattan's hebrew name _____   father a cohen, levy or yisrael _____

Each ketubah is printed individually. Here is an explanation of the process for preparing the personalized ketubah text. The text is created with an artistic font in a adobe graphics program in 2 stages:

Stage 1 Typed Text
Preparation of text with personalization details as a typed version. The first draft will be sent by email to you as well as your rabbi for proofing. Corrections should be made at this stage

Stage 2 Text as Image
Once the stage 1 is approved, the text will be converted to an image and fitted to the artwork so that there are no spaces or overlapping letters. The text will again be sent for final approval, then combined with the image and finally sent for printing. (On the rare occasion that there are major changes at stage 2 there will be an additional charge since this requires starting the process over)

Considering the many nuances of ketubah wording, proof reading is the responsibility of the client and Rabbi who is performing your wedding. I do my best to enter the information accurately.

Thank you for your order and I look forward to working with you!